

Frank Seberechts studied history at both Antwerp University and Ghent University. He finished his PhD thesis in 2001, and joined the Study Centre for Research and Contemporary History (CegeSoma) as project collaborator. He also worked at the ADVN centre for archives and research, and is currently head of the research department at ADVN. He has published works about Flemish nationalism, the First and Second World Wars, the Port of Antwerp and local history.